UNION PACIFIC SEGREGATION

DISPOSAL OF INVESTMENT STOCKS IS A DIFFICULTY.

Relders of Bonds Other Than Convertibles Want to Be Considered and the Lawyers Consulted Have Not Yet Come to an Agreement-Beiny Results.

The special committee of Union Pacific directors, which was appointed a month ago to devise a plan for the segregation of the so-called investment stocks owned by the Union Pacific has encountered so many difficulties that a report came vesterday from a quarter usually well informed on Union Pacific affairs that the plan was likely to fall through. Union Pacific men denied that the plan had been abandoned, but it was admitted that the difficulty in formulating a plan acceptable to holders of various classes of securities was greater than had been supposed. Accordingly, it was said, there is at least bound to be considerable delay in making the plan effective.

The most important development yesterday was knowledge that certain holders of mortgage bonds of the company have declared that they will sue in case the stocks are separated from the parent company without taking in holders of mortgage bonds. It had been known that the committee was in a quandary regarding the respective rights of holders of preferred stock, holders of common stock and holders of convertible bonds, but the difficulty created by the claims of other bondholders had apparently not been considered until

The legal department of the Union Pacific and lawvers consulted by the committee have been asked to decide whether all these so-called investment stocks, Atchison, Baltimore and Ohio, Southern Pacific, New York Central, Illinois Central, St. Paul and the rest are assets of the company or whether they may be considered as profits. If they are assets the holders of preferred stock cannot well be prevented from participating in the proposed distribution, and holders of many bonds issued prior to the recent issue of convertibles may also have to be considered. If they may be regarded by the courts as profits, then the company can apportion them among the holders of common stock and covertible bonds alone, the convertible bond holders coming in under the privilege. bond holders coming in under the privilege of converting bonds into common stock. The lawyers apparently are finding a solution perplexing. At any rate they have not yet come to an agreement, and the com-mittee, which has held but two or three mittee, which has held but two or three meetings and none recently, is marking time. It is probable that the trend of legislation at Washington will be watched closely and that developments there may have an effect on the ultimate action of the committee and the board of directors.

It was suggested yesterday that the stocks of competing railroads held by the Union Pacific might be sold or distributed to stockholders in some way or other and that the company might retain the otherstocks. Under such an abridgment of the original plan the company would sell or segregate its great Northern, Northern Pacific, Atchison, St. Paul and Northwestern and retain among others its Illinois Central. Racinc, Atonson, St. Paul and Northwestern and retain among others its Illinois Central. Baltimore and Ohio, New York Central and if possible Southern Pacific. Such a procedure, it was said, could encounter no opposition from Washington except possibly in the case of Southern Pacific, for the reason that then the Union Pacific's influence would be carried along extending rather than competing lines of railroad.

Generally it was believed that even if the segregation of the stock holdings is married through there will be substantial modifications of original plans. In an authoritative quarter it was said that a plan might be announced this year, but that in any event it would not become effective before the spring.

transactions at the higher rates.

The bulk of the demand came from the interior, which seemed to be quite as insistent in its demands for funds as on pre-vious days of the panic. Banks shipped heavily by express, and through the Sub-Treasury they transferred the large sum of $1.574.000. The transfers to St. Louis

Sub-Treasury transfers to other places were as follows: New Orleans, $4,000; San Francisco, $2,000; Cincinnati, $50,000; Chicago, $582,000; Philadelphia, $75,000; Boston, $200,000.

Payments of December interest and dividend disbursements were made to the estimated amount of $75,000,000. As is customary on days of heavy interest and dividend payments call money was less abundant. The prevailing rate for loans was 11 per cent., and it was at this rate that most of the renewals were made. Otherwise the rate ranged between 5 and 13 per intents and purposes as purely nominal as on previous days. A loan of $200,000 reported to have been made at 15 per cent. for sixty days was thought to illustrate the condition of the time money market with fair accuracy. The foreign exchange market was off about 30 points for demand market was off about 30 points for demand of $1.500.000 cold

MONEY AND EXCHANGE.

Money on call on the floor of the Stock Exchange to-day loaned at 5 and 13 per cent. and closed at 5 per cent. The average rate was 11 per cent. against a prevailing price last week of 7 per cent. The situation in the time money market was unchanged. A little money was put out at 10 per cent. for sixty days. Mercantile paper was quoted nominally at 8 to 10 per cent. The premium on currency to-day was stronger. As high as 1½ per cent. was paid at one time, and the ruling rate was 1½ per cent., there being a large amount of currency wanted at this figure.

The aterling exchange market was quiet to-day. Rates were little changed from last week, closing at 4.80 for sixty days, 4.8625@4.8835 for sight drafts and 4.8775@4.8780 for cables.

London did not like the bank statement, and New York for that matter did not form a particularly favorable impression of it. Even the most optimistic trader was forced to admit that the showing was not a brilliant one.

Ca the other hand all were compelled to admit that the figures indicated an improvement, and therefore the feeling of disappointment should have gone no further than to reflect the degree in which the betterment felf short of the too optimistic anticipations. But it went further than this and induced bear selling of a market already oversold. This was a mistake that brought painful consequences upon those who made it.

After such a rise as the market had had there would almost certainly have been heavy profit taking yesterday even if the bank statement had been a great deal better than it was. The principal difference which the disappointment over the showing of the banks made on the trading was that the volume of bear selling was greatly increased Possibly, too, the volume of profit taking was a little larger and the support a little less aggressive than they might have been deficit in the surplus reserve been reduced by several million dollars instead of by a single million. As it was, a trap was set for the bears and they stepped right into

Perhaps it was because there are people in Washington who cannot stop talking that every trader felt satisfied in his own mind that he knew pretty accurately just what the President would say in his message to Congress. The leaks through newspapers, Wall Street news agencies and the offices of periodicals had been stopped, but there was such convincing harmony between the rumors heard all over the Street that it was almost impossible to escape the conclusion that there was another leak that ould not be dammed-although, as one of the traders said, "it might be cussed." supposition was that the President had tried message on a great number of people, obtained their opinions-and followed his until the President's message was out of the way the market was likely to continue reactionary and so advised their customers. They did not wish to buy stocks, and where their advice could exert an influence they used it to deter intending purchasers. They felt impelled to this course all the more strongly by the stiffness in money that arose from the withdrawal from the Street of the funds needed to pay the instalment on the St. Paul stock and to meet interest and dividend disbursements at the beginning of the month. One effect of this was to keep a large part of the buying energy in a latent state, conserving a force that may be applied later with very considerable effect. That the market could rally without it from the effects of profit taking was very encouraging market took it well. When it ceased prices bounded upward with greater buoyancy than at any previous time since the rise began a week ago. The short interest, which had had a breathing spell, was obliged to start on the run again, and having increased its size during the short period of rest was in bad running form and made poor headway in its effort to reach cover. Customers of brokerage firms who had been induced by their brokers to keep out of the market during the forenoon became affected by the contagion of the bullish enthusiasm of the rise, and throwing the previously heeded advice to the winds insisted on joining the cheerful party that caused and profited by th

The most extraordinary thing about the markable change that came over the market shortly after noon was that its first visible manifestation was in a comparatively unimportant stock like Brooklyn Rapid Transit This stock about noon began to move upward with every evidence of real strength. and in a very little while the whole market moved in sympathy. It looked like a wonder ful instance of a small tail wagging a large dog, but the fact was that it represented a rather delicate operation to determine what degree of vitality was possessed by After a Low Opening-Demands From the the market as a whole, the result being eminently satisfactory.

Brooklyn Rapid Transit now occupies in rency was slack yesterday morning and the market a position of unique strategic importance. Formerly there were a number of tically passed out of the sphere of speculation with the exception of Brooklyn Rapid Transit and therefore this issue in itself possesses all the potency as a maker of sentiment that it formerly shared with Manhattan, the Metropolitan issues and Consolidated Gas. For this reason its rise meant much more in a small specialty whose total market value at current quotations is less than $15,000,000.

The power of resistance that was shown by Reading in the forenoon decline was a fitting prelude to the stock's display of vigor-ous strength in the afternoon. Rumor was enough in what looked like a small bear panic. The statement of earnings for October is out this was at best only a small factor in the

It is understood that the large increase in the operating expenses of the Atchison in October were very largely the result of the unfavorable labor situation, aggravated as it has been by the political antipathy to the railroads, which has assumed a virulent form in some parts of the road's territory. Com-pliance with the new ruling of the Interstate Commerce Commission in regard to the method of reporting earnings has added penses as reported, principally by way of provision for depreciation, notwithstanding that Atchison's equipment has always been by far the larger part of the increase in operand labor conditions that have harassed the will fare in the future will depend in part on damage has already been done it is too late show so large earnings for its common stock June 30, 1907. OUTSIDE . THE TOBACCO TRUST Vice-President Hill Says There's a Very Large Independent Business. On redirect examination yesterday before Commissioner Shields in the Government's suit against the tobacco trust Vice-President Hill of the American Tobacco Company said that there were about 600,000 retail tobacco stores in the United States. of which less than 1,000 were owned by the United Cigar Stores Company. Of the distributing companies there were at least 5,000. and of this number only one was owned by the American Tobacco Company. He added that only 253 out of the 5,000 distributing concerns received allowances from the American company for specia services in advertising and distributing. "Nearly 4,700 of them are perfectly free and under no influence whatever from the American Tobacco Company?" asked Mr. Parker, counsel for the company. "Exactly."

"Exactly."

"Of the 5,000 distributing companies do any handle the products of the American Tobacco Company exclusively?"

"Not one; not even the one owned by us."

Mr. Hill was careful to explain that there was no reason except lack of money to prevent any merchant from going into the tobacco business. Any one can get the products of the American Tobacco Company, he declared, if he has the money to pay for them, that is, outside of New York. Here they must buy through the Metropolitan Tobacco Company, which has the exclusive jobbing privilege in this city.

"Independent manufacturers of tobacco have opened business since the American have opened business since the American Tobacco Company was formed, haven't they?"
"Yes, several."

"Yes, several."

"And they are prosperous, for the most part?"

"Very."

Failures in the tobacco business are due to bad management, said the witness, and he added that 90 per cent. of his own company's products were failures.

"It has always been difficult to establish new brands on the market," said Mr. Hill, "and I. do not recall a single instance in which it has not been attended with actual loss of money."
